The Man: Mr. P

President Robert F. Pietrowski

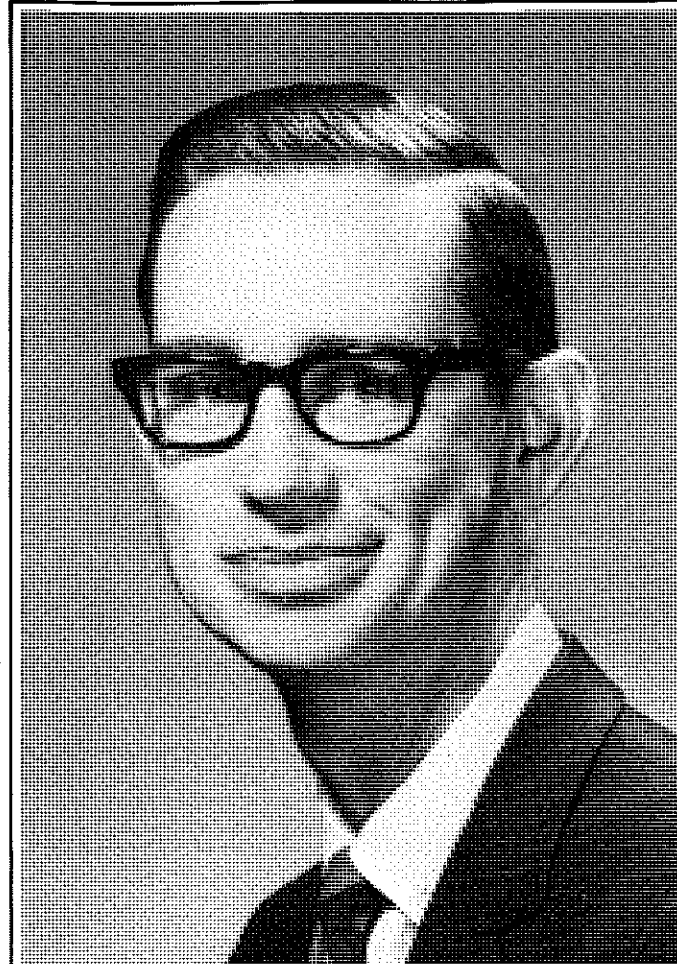

SALUTE TO THE PIONEERS

It is with a sense of joy in your achievement that I salute the staff of this first yearbook of Yampa Valley College. You are pioneers in the truest sense, creating an important landmark for those who will follow.

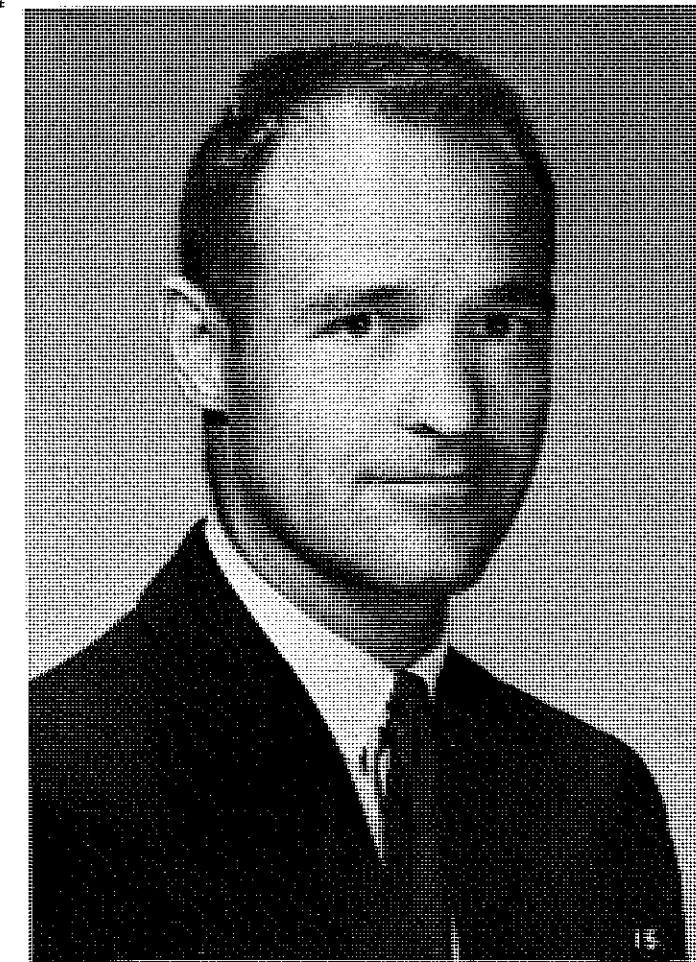

I also congratulate the other pioneers who have brought into reality the dream of Y.V.C.: The Board of Trustees, the Faculty, and the Students. Only those who can see the invisible can accomplish the impossible. Specialists told you that it is imperative to have several million dollars before starting a college in the '60's. But, as in the story of the flight of the bumble bee, you have proven them wrong.

The Pioneering has not been easy. It never is. Although we know that genuine education depends only upon the teacher and the student, and not upon the place in which they sit, we have all been impatient to see the buildings on the new campus rising above the town. But because you have the vision to create reality where nothing was before, and the dedication to persist in this act of creation, in the face of difficulties, it shall be accomplished. I hope that being a moving part of this adventure has proven as challenging and satisfying for you as it has been for me. I salute you!

Oh to express what love is in the world is to destroy all emotion

To capture a moment of joy is to imprison it behind bars.

But to know the power of silent affection
is contagious.

Smothered in hugs smothers the look suffocated by verse

Chokes the swell of the heart.

But to know the power of silent affection
is contagious.

I'm Lost in a,
World of no return,
A bell rings,
Far far away,
In the valley.
And for a moment,
A sweet smile
Crosses the sad face.

As we watch what seems to be the end,
we are only deceived,
for it is only the beginning.

Just as the door of Y.V.C. opened to greet you,
the arms of the future swept open to let you pass.

Y.V.C. will never leave you,
nor you her;
for she is included in your world.

The Senior Class of 1966 leaves here, arms open--never to close-- only to expand.

And so you say good-bye to the present,
and welcome to the future.

Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch the woods fill up with snow.

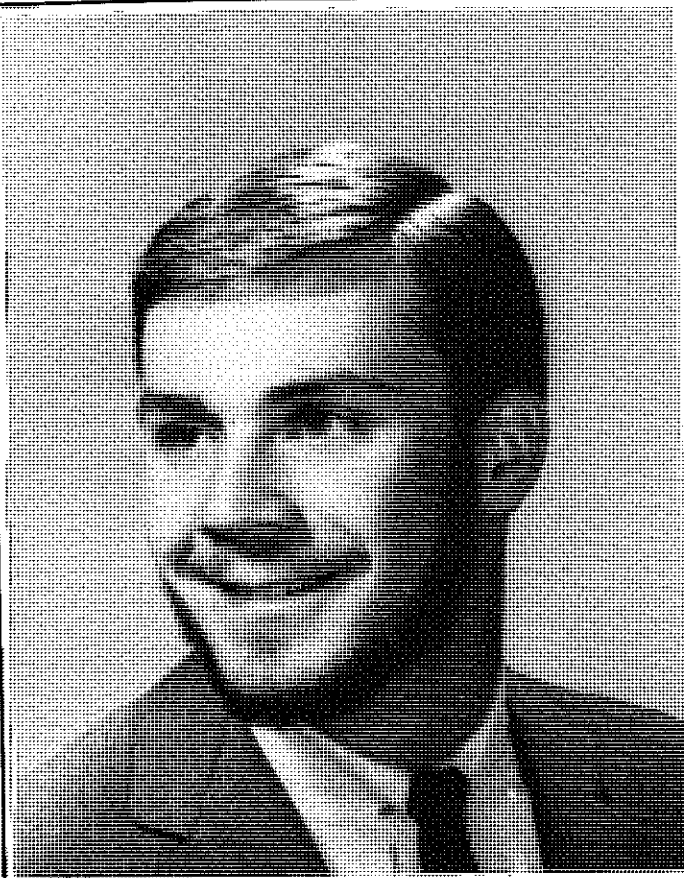

My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.

The woods are lovely dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

Stopping By The Woods On A Snowy Evening.
