put me in your human eye
come taste
the bitter tears
that I cry
touch me
with your human hand
hear me with your ear
but notice me
damn you
notice me
I'm here

Coal Dust Classic

lege for the second annual "Coal Dust Classic" on Feb. 1. After 60 cross-country skiers completed the ten kilometer course, everyone adjourned to the Student Union for sandwiches and hot apple cider paid for by the Glenwood Springs Chamber of Commerce.

DESERT ORIENTATION

There were two separate groups on the trip. Jack Snobble lead the archeology trip which had 30 campers in it and Dave McCallister lead the survival group. Dave's group has 20 members in it and after starting out they divided into 3 smaller groups. These smaller groups were headed by: Mike Hare, Byron Shelton, Dana Brones, and Jake McGavock. The survival group is entitled that because they only took a single wool blanket and whatever clothes they wore, plus a minimal amount of food. They also covered a wider area than the archeology group.

But no matter which group you were in, Desert Orientation had a lot to offer everyone who went.
